He has not been seen in Andover since the theft although persons saw a man answering his description in Ballardvale on the afternoon the deed was committed.

Daily Paper as a Bonus.

A novelty in daily journalism is about to be launched at Detroit in the shape of a full fledged newspaper that will be supplied to readers free of charge. The scheme, which is fathered by Shelley B. Hutchinson, originator of the trading stamp idea, is to sell the papers at wholesale to retail merchants in competitive lines in small towns as well as cities. Each dealer is to have exclusive right to furnish the paper free in his particular field to all customers. The circulation thus secured is expected to make the paper a successful advertising medium. Each paper will also contain free coupons to be used in about the same way as trading stamps and also in connection with puzzle and essay tests for valuable prizes. The paper is to be edited by Willis J. Abbott.

Jersey's Family of Trusts.

Preliminary tax schedules filed by the New Jersey state board of assessors show that for the year 1903 taxes have been levied against 125 New Jersey corporations, each with an issued stock exceeding $100,000. Seven of these have an issued stock exceeding $100,000,000. They are the United States Steel corporation, Northern Securities company, Amalgamated Copper company, Rock Island company, United States Leather company, International Harvester company and the International Mercantile Marine company. It is estimated that the complete returns will include nearly 11,000 corporations, or more than 1,000 in excess of the number taxed last year. The tax levied amounts to $2,436,910.

Wireless Rivals at War.

The American De Forest Wireless Telegraph company has sued the Marconi company for $1,000,000 damages for circulating, it alleges, false reports concerning the contract awarded on June 29 by the navy department to the De Forest company. A representative of the Marconi company denied that any such contract had been awarded.

Another suit has been brought against the Marconi company, E. Rollins Morse and ten others, through Franklin Blen, by Henry Gardner, one of its stockholders, who asks for an accounting and the appointment of a receiver pending the suit. He charges mismanagement and extravagance.

Industrial.

Pittsburg's New Railroad.

The formal opening of the Wabash line to Pittsburg took place July 2, when a special train bearing 300 guests, including officials of the railroad and newspapers, left for St. Louis. The first regular train in the opposite direction left immediately afterward amid the cheering of many citizens at the station. The special, consisting of twelve Pullmans and two engines, reached St. Louis after a twenty hour run, a one hour stop having been made at Mingo Junction, where dinner was served on the Ohio bridge.

Many Homestead Seekers.

The Rosebud reservation in South Dakota, long the home of the Iroquois Indians, was formally opened by the government to homestead seekers July 5, when 2,614 persons, including 212 women, filed applications for land grants at Bonesteel, S. D., the nearest village and temporary office of the land division. People of all classes and conditions made up the crowd of waiting thousands who had gathered from all quarters, traveling by rail and in prairie schooners. Schoolteachers and other women's fair visitors deserted St. Louis when they heard of the prizes in homes waiting for the "first comers," traveling men, clerical men and unsuccessful business men touched elbows with old soldiers, abandoned women and farmers. Bonesteel was transformed into a thriving city and the authorities were kept busy handling the crowds and watching the gamblers.

Mexican Volcano Sold.

The formal transfer of Mount Popocatepetl to Captain Charles Holt, representing a New York syndicate, was made at Mexico City July 3, the price paid being $500,000. Captain Holt and associates will develop the sulphur deposits situated in the crater of the volcano. According to a report made by the Mexican government, the crater contains 148,000,000 tons of sulphur. The supply in the crater is increasing at the rate of 1 per cent annually. The new owners of the volcano will build a cog wheel railroad from the base of the mountain to its summit and establish a great electric power plant.

$18,000,000 in Alaskan Gold.

According to a late report the United States assay office at Seattle has received $6,000,000 in gold dust from the mines of Alaska this year. The lowest estimate for the gold output of this season is $18,000,000. This will make the total receipts of the assay office since the Klondike discoveries $80,000,000.

Labor.

Open Shop in Chicago.

The secretary of the Chicago Employers' association claims that in the last three months the open shop movement has grown to include all the shoe and furniture factories, brass and chandelier manufacturers and the metal trades. "It is coming to be realized," he says, "that a union label does not help the sale of the article on which it is placed."

Mine Operators Object.

The first important decision against the anthracite mine operators of Pennsylvania, rendered July 2 by Umpire Wright, was received with disfavor by the operators, who declared that the rule requiring them to pay the check weighing and check docking bosses by deducting their wages from the earnings of the workers, each bearing the proper share of the tax, was taxation without representation. They claimed that many nonunion miners were not parties to the award and are not governed by it, and that no law can compel them to pay the tax.

Western Miners Defiant.

In reference to the latest move of the Colorado mine owners and citizens' alliance, charging forty-eight leaders and members of the Western Federation of Miners with murder and other crimes at Cripple Creek, Vice-President Williams of the federation said: "They may arrest every officer of our organization and confine us as they have President Moyer, but the business of the federation will go on uninterrupted and the work of advancing our cause will be forwarded with renewed vigor because of this latest outrage on innocent men." Several deported miners who returned to Victor were escorted out of town by a committee and warned never to return on peril of their lives. They went to Denver to appeal for redress.

Recreative Sports

New Saddle Trotting Record.

Charley Mac, 2:07 1/2, owned by C. K. G. Billings of New York, broke the world's professional trotting record to saddle at Cleveland, O., July 3. He trotted the mile with Billings in the saddle in 2:15 1/2, breaking the record of 2:15 1/2 held by McLeod since 1882.

The Regatta at Henley.

In the Royal regatta at Henley, England, last week L. F. Scholes of the Don Rowing club, Toronto, Canada, captured the Diamond Sculls, beating Cloutte of the London Rowing club. In the final for the Grand Challenge cup the Leander club's eight beat the New College (Oxford) crew by one length in 7 minutes 20 seconds. Scholes made the new time record of 8 minutes and 23 seconds.

EDUCATIONAL

Roycroft Bowls to Tuskegee.

The idea of manual labor as a necessary part of an educational system, which is the cornerstone of the great industrial school created at Tuskegee by a negro for negroes, is made the basis of remarkable prediction by Elbert Hubbard, the head of the Roycroft shop, in the July Phillistine. Brother Hubbard has been to Tuskegee to see for himself how the idea works there. He notes that great discoveries are always accidents and says the day will come "when the great universities of the world will have to put the Tuskegee idea into execution."

B. T. Washington.

In order to save themselves from being distanced by the colored race," or, if the state made college education compulsory and one-half of the course were useful manual labor, "most of our social ills would be solved." Mr. Hubbard paraphrases Wendell Phillips' famous eulogy to Toussaint L'Ouverture so as to apply to Booker Washington, "the man of common sense." Tuskegee is the ideal school of the country, in the opinion of the head Roycrofter.

Porto Rican Teachers Here.

Six hundred Porto Rican school-teachers, guests of the United States, arrived at New York and Boston on the transports Sumner and Kilpatrick July 1 and proceeded to Cornell and Harvard universities, where they are to take the summer course. They are in charge of Commissioner of Education Lindsay of Porto Rico and, with him, will see the sights in New York, Philadelphia, Boston and Washington, returning to Porto Rico in time for the fall opening of the schools.

Filipinos Barred From School.

The Louisville (Ky.) school board has instructed the high school committee to inform four Filipino students who applied for admission to the Dupont Manual Training High school that their color debars them from the privileges of the public schools. Professor Mark said he had investigated the law as to the separation of races in the school and found that the word "colored" applied to all except white children, and included negroes, Indians and those of the brown races.

Miscellaneous

Accidents.

The Danish steamer Norge, bound from Copenhagen for New York with about 700 emigrants and a crew of eighty on board, struck Rockall reef, 134 miles west of St. Kilda island, off Scotland, at 7:30 a. m. June 28 and was so badly damaged that she foundered. About 200 survivors were picked up in the next few days by rescuing steamers. Among them were the captain and first officer, who say they stayed at their posts until the ship went down and then swam a long distance before being rescued in an exhausted condition. Terrible tales are told by the survivors about the total lack of discipline on the part of the crew, some of whom fought for places in the boats, while others were unable to get all of the boats lowered. The capacity of the boats and rafts was far exceeded by the number of passengers. Life preservers were useless.

Wabash passenger train No. 11 was wrecked and burned near Litchfield, Ill., July 3. Twenty persons were killed and from forty to fifty injured. The train was crowded with delegates to the Democratic national convention and visitors to the world's fair.

By the explosion of a gasoline tank on a pleasure launch at Lake Minnetonka, Minnesota, George L. Upton, a society leader of St. Paul, and his wife were killed and five others severely burned July 3.

A fire caused by lightning destroyed the big elevator of the Boston and Maine railroad at Charleston, Mass., and damaged the Allan line steamship Austrian. Three of the crew of the Austrian were killed and the property damage was estimated at $1,500,000.

Deaths.

George Frederick Watts, the noted English painter and sculptor of the Victorian era, died July 1 at London. He was eighty-seven years of age.

Dr. Theodore Herzl, founder of the Zionist movement and president of its congress, died at Vienna July 3.

F. E. MacMahon, an American soldier who served with Farragut, and the inventor of the tape ticker, died at Newmarket, England, July 5.

Paul Joseph Blanc, the famous French painter, died at Paris July 5, at the age of sixty-two.

Senor Dupuy de Lome, Spanish minister to this country just before the war with Spain, died at Paris July 2.

Liver and Kidneys

It is highly important that these organs should properly perform their functions.

When they don't, what lameness of the side and back, what yellowness of the skin, what constipation, bad taste in the mouth, sick headache, pimples and blotches, and loss of courage, tell the story.

The great alternative and tonic

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Gives these organs vigor and tone for the proper performance of their functions, and cures all their ordinary ailments. Take it.

The most important events to take place are baseball, cricket and tug of war between Court Excelsior and Court City of Lawrence, and as there already exists great rivalry between the two courts in these contests a good time is looked forward to, and no doubt Foresters will be on hand in good numbers. There will also be 100 yards dash, 135 yards handicap, three legged race, hop skip and jump, broad jump and potato race which are open to Foresters and are strictly amateur. DEATH OF MRS. MESSER.

Mrs. Frances M. Messer, wife of Cummings Messer, and a most estimable woman died at her home on Broadway Sunday afternoon at 1.30 o'clock, aged 68 years, 8 months and 20 days. Mrs. Messer had been ill for some time, and for several weeks has been very low, so that her death was not entirely unexpected. She bore her illness with remarkable fortitude, and was cheerful and hopeful to the end.

Mrs. Messer was a native of Tewksbury and nearly all her life has been passed in this vicinity. She was a woman of most estimable character and had a wide circle of friends. She was a member of the local Baptist church, where she attended constantly until ill health prevented. Besides her husband, she leaves one daughter, Mrs. Jennie M. Chesbrough of Wakefield. The funeral was held Tuesday afternoon and interment was in Walnut Grove cemetery.

SUNDAY SCHOOL PICNIC.

The Sunday school connected with the Methodist church held an enjoyable picnic Saturday afternoon at Harris pond. There was about 100 in attendance. The party left the church shortly after 8 o'clock in the morning, and arriving at the grove enjoyed the day in boating, bathing, and playing baseball, etc. A sail boat was on the water for the use of the picnickers, and the children had delightful sails in it. The return was made in the early evening. The committee in charge comprised Rev. W. F. Ineson, Asa L. Harris and James Mossom.

Parker to Lead the Democratic Host

The silent farmer-jurist of Esopus was busy getting in his hay between showers during last week's warm spell, while a thousand delegates representing the Democratic party in national convention at St. Louis sweltered over the knotty problems of reorganization. But the name of Alton Brooks Parker steadily gained in prestige and adherents from hour to hour, while the battles over credentials and platform were fought out, and until Littleton of New York moved his candidacy for president as the "servant of his party." That was in the early hours of Saturday, July 9, during the all night session, and the demonstration of enthusiasm lasted thirty minutes. A great ovation was also given when Hearst's name was proposed. Other names moved were Gray, Olney, Cockrell, Wall and Miles, but on the first ballot more than the necessary two-thirds majority was recorded for the New Yorker.

The fight over credentials was carried to the floor by Bryan, who was applauded, but whose eloquence was rewarded by an overwhelmingly adverse vote, thus disclosing at last the change in party leadership. Still it was proved that the Nebraskan was a factor to be reckoned with when he led the successful fight against the gold plank in the platform committee and secured concessions in the tariff and trust planks. Williams as temporary chairman and Champ Clark as permanent chairman both made Rooseveltism the leading issue of the campaign. The platform was adopted almost unanimously as it came from the committee.

The Moth Nuisance.

It isn't a cheering prospect that comes to our Andover citizens in the arrival of the brown tail moths in our midst. It doesn't necessarily follow that the gypsy moths are to come also, with their much greater destructiveness, but the pest that is with us is a sufficient nuisance, and is bound to make a great deal of trouble before it is destroyed.

Some of our good friends are already picturing the foliage of Andover despoiled, and vegetation completely blighted, but, bad as the brown tail moth is, we are reliably informed that most of the damage done in towns south of us, notably Malden, Everett, and Medford, is to be charged to the brown tail's first cousin, the gypsy moth. One of the most serious dangers from the brown tail moth is to the human body, the fuzz being a poison to most person's flesh and making a very irritating inflammation.

How to destroy the pest is a very serious question. Certainly every miller destroyed is one less to make trouble, so every device which does anything in the work of extermination is to be approved, but it would seem as if a much broader campaign than the personal torch or the local broom must very soon be inaugurated, if a thorough job is to be done.

The question was one of the prominent issues before the legislature last year. A score or more of bills and petitions made the framing of a law a most complicated question, and not till the last of the session did any agreed committee report come before the legislature for action. The worst snag of all was then struck in the opposition of the cities and towns most affected to any proposition that should make any part of the expense come upon either municipality or individual, they believing that the state should pay the entire bill. It is very clear that with only a small part of the state affected, such a suggestion would hardly work, and so the parties most interested failed to secure any relief legislation.

It would appear to be only a fair division of the burden for the state, or the nation, to bear the greater part of the expense for abating such a nuisance as this is; the damage is widespread and impossible of confinement to any one backyard or township. But to entirely free the owner of the property affected, or the town most directly interested, from any share of the expense, would seem to be eminently unfair. The seriousness of the trouble demands a united force to combat it. A force in which are joined the state, the town, and the individual, each contributing a fair share of money and interest and intelligent fighting.

Let the ravages of the pest reach out much further, as it unfortunately promises to do, and it will not be a difficult task to get a united campaign begun against them. Meanwhile, individual effort, backed by city and town co-operation, must do all that is possible in making good any failure of the state to lead in this important work.

Editorial Cinders.

There's so much that is bad in the best of us,
And so much that is good in the worst of us,
It little behooves the whole of us
To say aught that is ill of any of us.

There is nothing much more interesting than the man who is always telling what he would do if he were "it". From street talk one would judge that there wouldn't be a moth in Andover if any one of a half hundred of our talkative friends were a town father. Might we suggest that a very quieting effect can be produced upon these regulators by asking what they have done in their own backyards.

Well, who cares if beef is to be higher? Peas were never nicer, beans are coming on splendidly, cucumbers and summer squash never looked more promising, and it's lots of fun to go fishing once in a while. There are many things to eat besides beef and there's no politics in most of them, as there is in the beef strike.

The second of Rev. W. G. Poor's brief letters of Western impressions is published today. They are most entertaining sketches, and lead us not only to hope for more from him, but also to suggest that the example is excellent for some of our other summer travellers to follow.

Baseball excitement is at concert pitch these days, all over the country. Throughout Essex County there is never so much interest as there is today, and the vacant lot that doesn't hold some enthusiasts every Saturday afternoon is the exception.

TO ENTERTAIN VISITORS

Andover Natural History Society Will Hold Outing at Alderbrook Farm.

The Andover Natural History society will hold its next field meeting, Wednesday, July 20th, at Alderbrook farm. The Essex Institute of Salem and the Lawrence Natural History Society have been invited to participate and will add much to the interest of the occasion. The members of the Essex Institute are expected to reach Alderbrook farm in a special electric car at about 10.30 a.m. They will at once visit the Museum of American Archaeology and other points of interest in Andover. A little before one o'clock there will be a basket picnic. Promptly at 2 o'clock there will be a meeting to which the residents of Andover are cordially invited. There will be several speakers, members of the Essex Institute and others.

If the weather should be unfavorable, the public meeting will be held in the South church vestry instead of at Alderbrook farm.

The following circular was sent by the secretary of the Essex Institute to its members:

"The Essex Institute has accepted an invitation from the Andover Natural History society to join with that society in holding a Field Meeting at the Alderbrook farm, Andover, on Wednesday, July 20, 1904. The exercises will begin at 2 o'clock. Mr. William G. Goldsmith, president of the Andover society, will preside. Short addresses will be made by Dr. C. O. Day, president of the Andover Theological Seminary; Prof. E. S. Morse, of the Peabody Academy of Science, an illustrated talk on 'A common, but little known insect'; Dr. E. C. Bolles, of Tufts College, on 'Why Field Meetings are useful'; Prof. W. K. Moorehead, Curator of the Andover Museum of American Archaeology; Mr. Arthur S. Pease, of Andover, on 'The Botany of the Locality'; Mr. C. F. Palmer, Supt. of Andover schools, on 'The Ethics of Bird Life'; Mr. John Robinson, of Salem, on 'The Forging of Local Collections'; Mr. John Sears, of Salem, on 'The Glacial Phenomena of the Region'; and Mr. R. B. Mackintosh, of Peabody, on 'Edible Mushrooms'.

"Among the places of interest that may be visited are:—The new Museum of American Archaeology; the Indian Ridge; the Cathedral Arch, and the homes of Mrs. H. B. Stowe and Rev. S. F. Smith. Local guides will be in attendance. A special car to the place of meeting will leave Town House Square, Salem, at 8.45 a. m. In case of rain the meeting will be held the next fair day. Basket lunch should be carried. Coffee will be served by the Andover society."

Public School Notes.

At the meeting of the School committee held last week repairs in the various school buildings were discussed and decided upon.

The resignation of J. W. Andrews, as supervisor of drawing, was read and accepted.

Janitors were elected as follows: Indian Ridge school, William Angus; Bradley school, Patrick Conway; Richardson school, David Gordon; West Centre school, Edward F. Abbott; North school, James McGovern; Abbott school, Arthur Maddox; Bailey school, Jesse Melanson; Osgood school, Joseph Bourdelais.

The election was for the year commencing August 1.

The matter of electing a janitor or janitors for the central schools was deferred to a subsequent meeting.

It was decided to open the schools September 12.

To Form an I. O. G. T. Lodge.

An effort is being made in Andover to form a Good Templar organization. Chief Templar James M. Craig, of North Andover, has direct charge of the formation and from the interest shown here it is evident that a strong lodge will be organized. Already many names have been placed on the list and many more are promised.

A few years ago there was a lodge here, but the interest died away and the lodge disbanded. It is intended to make the new order strong, and it is hoped that good work will be done by it. The initiation fee will be 50 cents, and is payable upon application to either Miss Margaret Gorrie at 9 Wilbur Place or Alexander Valentine on Shawheen Road. All information regarding the proposed lodge can be secured from Chief Templar Craig of North Andover. It is hoped that many past members of the lodge will feel interested in the new organization.

Herald Newsboys at the Fair.

On Saturday, Aug. 13, an army of newsboys, accompanied by a brass band and Jack Glenister, the famous athlete, will go to St. Louis as the guests of the Boston Herald. The line of march will be through the main streets of Boston to the North station, where they will board special Pullman parlor cars and be carried to the great fair of the West. Fifty boys in all will be selected from the New England states, and the youngsters selling the most Heralds from June 1 to July 31 will be the lucky ones.

The contest will give the boys an opportunity for a journey half-way across the continent in handsome parlor cars in direct charge of the members of the Boston Herald staff, who will see to it that the little fellows are well taken care of.

At least one week will be spent at the fair, and the boys will be present for the newsboys' day, Aug. 16. During the week at the fair Jack Glenister, the famous athlete and swimmer, who will accompany the boys, will swim from Alton, Ill., to St. Louis, Mo., a distance of 30 miles, down the Mississippi river. The athlete will also make several long-distance swims in the large cities on the homeward trip, among them being a swim across Niagara river from the United States to Canada.

Mr. Glenister will point out to the boys the most difficult places he passed through in his hazardous swim through the Niagara whirlpool rapid, which he made last August.

It is safe to say that New England will have a larger representation of newsboys at St. Louis than any other part of the United States.

Musical Demonstration.

A musical demonstration by the little pupils of Miss S. S. Torrey was given at the home of Mrs. Henry Bodwell on Florence street on Wednesday afternoon and was attended by a large number of relatives and friends of the little ones.

The teacher, Miss Torrey, explained that the class was formed with the express purpose of giving the young minds a full and clear knowledge of music. Taking the subject right from the bottom and studying it thoroughly fits the children for either instrumental or vocal music.

The children showed in their exercises that they had been carefully trained and that they were interested in the work.

Buried in Andover.

The body of one of the victims of the Fourth of July drowning accident in the Merrimack river, Lawrence, Seymour J. Leighton, was brought to this town last Saturday afternoon and interred in the family lot in the South church cemetery.

Mr. Leighton was related to the Goff family here, and was well and favorably known. Funeral services were held at Odd Fellows hall, Lawrence, the deceased being a member of Kearsarge encampment, and they were largely attended. From there the body was conveyed to Andover street, escorted by members of the Odd Fellows, Engine Company 3, of which he was also a member and individual firemen. The line was led by the Lawrence Brass band.

At Andover street two special cars were taken for Andover. Arriving in the Square the procession re-formed and marched to the South church cemetery, where the concluding exercises were held.

There was a wealth of floral offerings, and during the afternoon and on Sunday many visited the cemetery to view the display. Rev. Clark Carter, of this town, officiated at the service at Odd Fellows hall.

CRICKET

Andover, 113; Lawrence Reserves, 77.

The Andover Cricket club added another to its long list of victories last Saturday afternoon by defeating the Lawrence Cricket club reserves by a score of 113 to 77. The game was interesting throughout as both teams were anxious for victory.

Rhodes bowled well having four wickets for seven runs and Callahan put up a good exhibition of batting, having a 4 to his credit. J. Barrett and Ramsden also batted well. This is the second time this season that the local team has defeated Lawrence.

NEW ENGLAND LAKES WHERE THE CITY FOLKS THROG.

WINNIPESAKEE, SUNAPEE MEMPHREMACOG.

The lake resorts of New England—the favorite haunts for the anglers and vacationists in search of an ideal rest—are now the rendezvous for hundreds of tired mortals from the busy city. The canoeists are gliding over Sunapee, and the many cottages and hotels present a joyous scene. On Winnepesaukee, the Queen of New England's lakes, the stately steamer, the "Mt. Washington," makes her daily trip of sixty miles touching at the numerous ports on the lake such as Wolfboro, Wells, Centre Harbor and Alton Bay, where summer gaiety and pleasure reign supreme. Memphremagog in Northern Vermont, on whose beautiful shores tourists assemble from all parts of the country, is a delightful scenic resort; its admirers have called it "the Switzerland of America." The "Lady of the Lake," furnishes the means of transportation over Memphremagog. In Maine are the famous fishing grounds equally desirable as summer resorts, Sebago, Moosehead and the Rangeleys.

These resorts are all described in the beautiful illustrated booklet "Lakes and Streams," also in the booklets "Lake Sunapee," "Lake Memphremagog and About There." These booklets will be mailed to any address upon receipt of two cents for each book, and the charming portfolio of half tones of New England lakes will be mailed by the General Passenger Department, Boston and Maine Railroad, Boston, upon receipt of six cents.

If you are planning your vacation, send for these books and also secure the Summer Resort Book free. This book contains the hotels, rates, and routes and the various resorts reached by the Boston and Maine Railroad and connections.

BROWN TAIL MOTH INVASION

Andover Alive with the Pesky Insects.—Tree Warden Playdon at Work.

The brown tail moths arrived in town last week, great swarms gathering around the arc lights in different parts of the town.

The suddenness of their arrival put the farmers and other citizens of the town in a furor for some little time, as they were not prepared to cope with the pests. Many persons complained to the Selectmen about the moths and many views of how to rid the town of them were given. Chairman Smith said that no definite action could be taken by the selectmen as this should come under the tree warden's department. Advice was received from prominent citizens and a great many methods of destroying the pest were offered. It was thought by them, however, that the tree warden would take the matter in charge. On Wednesday, Tree Warden J. H. Playdon had a force of men going through the town to all the arc lights, brushing the moths down and destroying them.

This work proved to be very effective as on Wednesday evening there were not nearly as many moths as before.

Many citizens have been fighting the pests of their own accord, some using a bright light with a pan of oil beneath, into which the moths fly. On Park street on Monday and Tuesday night a number of young men and boys formed a broom brigade and destroyed thousands of the pests.

In all cities and towns in eastern Massachusetts the moths are found and almost invariably the authorities are fighting them. In Methuen and Lawrence the fire departments have been called out and chemicals are used to exterminate them.

MINING REGIONS IN MISSOURI

Correspondent of the Townsman Writes Interestingly of the Conditions There.

"Change cars for Prosperity," called the conductor of the Southwest Missouri Electric Railway car, after a half hour's ride from Carthage. Prosperity, a recently started mining camp, is a great puddle of huge mounds of crushed stone about a score of tall smokestacks and hoisting elevators, and engirdled by an irregular array of little weather-plated buildings, several smithies, a store or two, some saloons and restaurants, and about a hundred little cottages comprise the town.

For quite an area, extending many miles into Kansas, this region is capped with a thick layer of limestone, and in the frequent fissures and caverns have formed the stalactite and stalagmite crystals of calcite (called "liff" hereabouts), found in connection with rich deposits of zinc ore and lead. As one approaches Joplin he is impressed with the extent of this industry. Great mounds of "tailings" shut out the landscape, and the singular shaft houses and ore-mills appear in all directions. Prospecting is being carried on all the time, and occasionally a farmer finds a thick layer of good ore while digging a well. Strikes of exceptional richness have been made along a narrow depression nearly six miles in length, named the Ten O'clock Range; and so uniform have been the high profits that prospectors are eagerly seeking another lay of land which will receive the sun's full beams only at ten o'clock. Disasters cave-ins frequently occur, and sometimes compel the abandonment of the mine. But the writer saw six of these great chasms within an area of ten acres and in only one was work abandoned. In two the crust had fallen in such a manner as to cause a gulf a hundred yards across and almost two hundred feet deep, and to expose some of the galleries in which miners are still working. All engaged about these mines make good pay, $1.75 being about the lowest daily wages. The work is hard and hazardous.

Whether speculation or actual demand forced zinc ore up to $56 a ton in 1900, no one seems to know. But at that rate profits were enormous and there was a great boom throughout this district. The rate now is about $35 a ton, $53 for lead, and the boom is off. Still, hundreds of mines are paying large dividends and there are thousands of miners about here. According to Government reports, 22 per cent of the world's supply of zinc comes from this region.

In the ore mills the finely crushed ore is passed through long troughs or "jigs" where running water brings the lighter limestone to the surface, and the heavy ore sinks and the stone is lifted by an endless belt to the top of a tall elevator and discharged through spouts to the pile of tailings. Some of these heaps are sixty feet high, and the view from one causes conflicting emotions to one who sees both the industry and the desolation, and notes the occasional devastation by a cave-in.

Good use is made of this crushed stone on the railways and highways. In time all the country roads will be constructed with this first-class material. The license laws of Missouri require a large portion of the income from sales of liquor to go to the making of good roads.

One reason assigned for the drop in price of zinc ore is a recent discovery in smelting the ores of gold and silver. No longer to the smelter farther West require train loads of these zinc ores to aid in separating the precious metals from their mineral associates.

After crossing the prairies of Indiana and Illinois the Missouri landscape is full of interest. Extensive forests, in which many varieties of oak predominate, clothe the hills; and several high ridges extend for many miles in a general southwesterly direction. Chief of these is the Ozark range, on a high plateau of which is situated Springfield, a busy manufacturing city of 38,000, and the seat of Drury college. This interesting town, 1600 feet above sea level, escapes the prevailing temperature of Missouri in summer, and boasts a good touch of New England weather in winter.

Carthage is a charming New England town (city?) of 12,000, its homes almost hidden beneath the foliage of large trees—persimmons and pecans sharing with oaks the places of honor—and its people displaying an unconscious refinement and cordiality most delightful. The citizens manifest a fine public spirit in their support of the local Chautauqua Assembly, which has just closed. Perhaps the most noteworthy, among many eminent lecturers, was Capt. Richmond P. Hobbs, U. S. N., whose oration of July 4, was an intensely patriotic and convincing plea for an adequate navy.

We miss here the morning bird concert that we had at home. The jay is the bird most in evidence here, robins and red-headed woodpeckers are also very numerous about the lawns, and in the outskirts of town the catbird's soft notes are heard all day. Out in the country the meadow lark, the mocking bird, the hermit thrush, and the brown thrush are the best singers. Some of our familiar birds are unknown here, the orioles, the grosbeaks, the warblers, finches and vireos; but the brilliant cardinal, shrike, blue heron, lapwing, and various owls, are common.

To one who has not known the West for fifteen years the first point of difference from former times is the work of prosperity in full train everywhere. Not of people going to the World's Fair, but of those going a short distance, usually. There is money to spend for railway tickets. But just now there is fear of a great financial stringency. Through three of these states the rainfall has been so unprecedented and so continuous that hope of a wheat harvest is gone. A greater part of the wheat is standing in shocks, and is sprouting, while that which is still uncut will be lost since the rainsoaked soil will not bear the passing of the heavy machinery over the fields.

The wild flowers make the prairies beautiful at this season. There are frequent thickets of wild roses, the great yellow daisies grow everywhere, and the dwarf sunflower are numerous. Very striking are the clumps of flaming scarlet "chigger-weed," the tall "higger-heads," the bunches of pink horse-mint and the crimson poppies. The nigger-heads are daisies from whose large black petals the petals of deep pink bend downward about the stalks. Unusual luxuriance is seen everywhere on the prairies. Missouri is a great state for fruit. Thrifty young orchards may be seen in all parts of the state. Jasper county seems to be given more to small fruits. Raspberries, blackberries, dewberries and cherries are now abundant and cheap; but strawberries seem to be the specialty of many farmers. Eighty-acre strawberry beds are not rare, and a score or more of men about here cultivate so large an area as to fill a freight car from one picking.

BASEBALL

Unions, 5; Ballardvale, 2.

Ballardvale was defeated on the plains Saturday afternoon in a close and exciting game by a score of 5 to 2. It was the first one of a series of games and there was a large attendance. A faulty decision by Umpire Doyle in the fourth inning may have affected the final result. The teams were very evenly matched and the game was in doubt until the last man was out.

For Ballardvale Drisko pitched fine ball, striking out ten men. Platt and O'Donnell batted well. Other features were the fine outfielding of J. Wheatley, and the capture of a foul fly after a long run by Hickey.

For the Unions Hilton pitched good ball and received fine support from his team. Kelly caught a good game, throwing out two men at second. Hodnett and Kelly batted well.

WHAT ALL THE WORLD IS DOING

Trend of Civilization in All Lines From Week to Week

POLITICS and GOVERNMENT

General.

Fiftieth Republican Birthday.

Jackson, Mich., was a Republican Mecca July 6, when the fiftieth anniversary of the birth of the Republican party was held there, where the birth occurred. It was there, on July 6, 1854, that the first state convention, under the name of "Republican," was held. More than 10,000 people took part in Wednesday's ceremonies and applauded the addresses made by Secretary Hay, Senator Fairbanks, Speaker Cannon and Senators Alger and Burrows of Michigan. Besides this national celebration Republicans in all parts of the country held local gatherings to commemorate the event.

The Socialist Labor Ticket.

The national convention of the Socialist Labor party, in session at New York July 7, nominated Charles K. Corcoran, a printer of New York, for president and William W. Cox, an Illinois coal miner, for vice president. The convention endorsed the Colorado strike and repudiated Gompers of the American Federation of Labor as an "adjunct of capitalism."

Foreign.

Tolstoi Arraigns the Czar.

What Count Tolstoi thinks and has dared to say about the war with Japan and the czar's war position is contained in a letter to the London Times.

"Again war," it begins; "again sufferings necessary to nobody, utterly uncalculated for; again fraud; again universal stupefaction and brutalization of men." Referring to the czar and to the wartime observances, Tolstoi says:

"This unfortunate, entangled young man, recognized as the leader of 130,000,000 people, is continually deceived and compelled to contradict himself. He confidently thanks and blesses the troops, whom Count Tolstoi, he calls his own, for murder in defense of lands which with yet less right he also calls his own. All present to each other hideous icons in which not only no one among the educated believes, but which the uneducated peasants are beginning to abandon. All bow down to the ground before these icons, kiss them, pronounce pompous and deceitful speeches in which no one really believes." He tells how the wealthy give insignificant portions "of their immorally acquired riches" and the poor their mites also to support the war.

In appointing Prince Obolinsky as governor general of Finland the czar formally acquits the people of Finland of complicity in the murder of General Bobrikoff, attributing the crime to one man only. The czar intimates that the policy of Bobrikoff will be carried out by his successor and that the Finns must sink their national spirit in that of Russia.

Czar Acquits Finland.

The American charge at Bogota reported July 6 that General Reyes on that day had been declared elected president of Colombia.

Tibetan Fort Taken.

British troops in Tibet attacked the fort at Gyantse July 6. The armistice having ended unsatisfactorily, the fort, or "jong," which rests on a cliff rising 300 feet from the plain, was taken by assault after the artillery fire had made a gap in the walls. The fort dominates the town and monastery beyond. The fort was defended by 7,000 Tibetans.

Armenians Ask Aid.

The Armenian bishops in Persia, by cabling an appeal to Secretary of State Hay in the name of Christianity and humanity to save innocent lives from Turkish barbarians who are massacring thousands, have again raised the question of American intervention in Turkey. The matter has been under consideration by the American cabinet, and opportunity may be taken of the approaching visit of the American fleet to Turkish waters.

British Liberals Beaten.

After a fierce campaign for the parliamentary byelection at Chertsey, in which the South African Chinese labor policy was used as a weapon of attack by the Liberals, the Conservative candidate, Lord Eingham, was elected premier by a reduced majority.

Premier Balfour Howled Down.

For the first time in a modern British parliament a premier has been unable to obtain a hearing on the floor of the commons. On Wednesday, while carrying through a part of the closure programme on the licensing bill, Mr. Balfour tried to speak, but his voice was drowned by loud cries of "Gag!"

Marshal Oyama Takes Field.

A lull in the rainy season of Manchuria has marked the resumption of aggressive movements by the several Japanese armies, which had got in touch along a front of over 250 miles, with its northeastern section closing in on the Russian base at Liaoyang and its southwestern extremity within three miles of Port Arthur. Beyond this general statement little authoritative news got past the censorship of the opposing powers, and the important new factor in the situation is the departure of Field Marshal Oyama from Tokyo to assume supreme command of the Japanese forces. This was thought to mean either that Port Arthur was about to be captured or that a decisive battle with the Russian main army was to be risked, or possibly both of these eventualities. The effort of the Russians to retake Motien pass was successfully resisted by the Japs. Russia has called out 450,000 new recruits by conscription. The diplomatic feature of the war has been the denial by Japan of Russia's charges of cruelty to the wounded and mutilation of the dead. The Russians at Newchwang refused to allow the British cruiser Espliego to enter that port.

Executive.

Colorado Queen of Warships.

The United States armored cruiser Colorado has had her unofficial or builders' trial off Delaware breakwater and has achieved a minimum speed of 22.31 knots an hour. Her official trial is expected to develop 22.5 knots, which is half a knot more than the contract requirement.

Porto Rico's Inauguration.

Beckman Winthrop was inaugurated as governor of Porto Rico at San Juan July 4 with a big parade composed of army, navy and insular organizations. A loving cup was presented to W. H. Hunt, the retiring governor, by the insular chiefs.

Legal and Criminal.

Colorado Judge Dissents.

Justice Steele of the Colorado state supreme court has filed his opinion, dissenting from the decision of the majority in refusing a writ of habeas corpus to Charles H. Moyer, president of the Western Federation of Miners, when held as a military prisoner by order of Governor Peabody. The opinion, containing nearly 18,000 words, deals exhaustively with the situation in the state created by military rule and cites a mass of authorities to show that only the legislature can suspend the writ of habeas corpus.

Federal Trial For Beavers.

Judge Thomas of Brooklyn decided that George W. Beavers must be taken to Washington for trial under the indictments found there by the federal grand jury for alleged acceptance of compensation for obtaining a government contract for book typewriters while employed by the postoffice department. A new bond of $10,000 was required.

Milk Poisoners Punished.

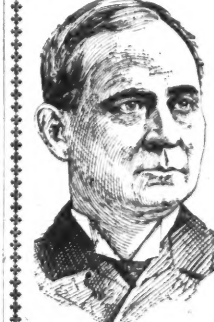

The crusade of the Pennsylvania dairy and food commission against diluted, colored and poisoned milk dispensed to the Philadelphia public resulted in the imposition of fines against seven dealers. Further convictions were anticipated.

Slocum Inspectors Blamed.

The federal grand jury at New York continued to take testimony concerning the destruction of the excursion steamer General Slocum, and District Attorney Burnett asked the jury to find a presentment against the federal steamboat inspection service in general, and against the local inspectors in particular. The steamboat inspection officers themselves have at the same time begun an investigation of their own.

Chief Points of the Democratic Platform

Being unable to agree on any statement regarding the question of our monetary standard, after the gold plank advocated by Hill of New York had been rejected by a vote of 35 to 15 in the committee, along with Bryan's income tax proposition, the Democratic platform builders finally agreed to say nothing. This conclusion was based largely on the theory that the recent vast increase in the world's supply of gold had made the money question a dead issue.

Champ Clark.

Compromise again had its way in the phrasing of the tariff and antitrust planks. The former is for "a revision and a gradual reduction of the tariff by the friends of the masses" so as not to disturb business unduly and "limited to the needs of the government." It is proposed to enlarge the powers of the interstate commerce commission so as to cope with every corporation that seeks monopoly and confine it to its own state; also the enforcement of existing antitrust laws.

A strong stand is taken against a policy of absolutism and colonial exploitation. It is insisted that the Filipinos be treated as the Cubans were. The platform further declares that the rights of labor are no less vested or sacred than the rights of capital; that reductions can and should be made in the expense of government; against executive usurpation; for direct election of senators; for admission of territories; for extermination of polygamy; against raising of the race issue on sectional lines; for reciprocity and for civil service reform.

The reinspection of all steamers at New York has been begun as ordered by Secretary Cortelyou.

Chicago Bookmakers Indicted.

The Chicago grand jury indicted forty-two persons alleged to have been taking wagers at the Hawthorne race track. They are charged under the law referring to gambling apparatus, it having been found useless to attempt to convict race track gamblers with being inmates of a gambling house as was tried a few years ago.

RELIGIOUS

Irish Cathedral Consecration.

The most important happening of the Roman Catholic church in Ireland in many years is scheduled for Sunday, July 24. It is the reopening and consecration of St. Patrick's cathedral at Armagh, the primal seat of Ireland. Bishops and clergymen from all parts of the world will attend the services, which will rival anything ever before seen in Ireland.

Dowie to Assail England.

At his tabernacle in Zion City, Ill., Dr. Dowie announced a plan for the invasion of England with his restoration host, saying: "We will knock at the door of every house in London, including the palace of the king, and before we leave England will be roused to the need of a her own salvation. We will go there in our own fleet and conduct a peaceful war." Six thousand people made known their desire to go with him.

Harnack on the Lord's Prayer.

Professor Harnack of the University of Berlin, who has frequently shocked Protestant Germany with his radical utterances on theological subjects, now brings out a new and startling declaration in regard to the construction and origin of the Lord's Prayer. He says that a summary of all the data in the matter justifies the conclusion that the prayer read originally: "Father! The bread for the coming day give us this day, and forgive us our debts as we also forgive our debtors, and lead us not into temptation."

SCIENTIFIC

Woman to Climb Mount Sorata.

Miss Annie Peck of Boston has sailed for South America to make the ascent of Mount Sorata, in the Andes, between 21,000 and 25,000 feet high. She also proposes to visit the crater of Sahama, the highest volcano in the world. The expense of the expedition is paid in part by persons interested in South American exploration.

Priest's Musical "Wireless."

Father Joseph Murgas, the Catholic priest of Wilkesbarre, Pa., who has invented and patented a wireless telegraph system, has arranged to locate a station at Scranton from which to carry on his experiments. His plan uses the musical tones to represent the dots and dashes of the Morse system, and he now hopes to perfect this apparatus so as to gain speed by representing each letter of the alphabet by a different tone.

Bacteria and Disease.

Dr. A. B. G. Nicholls, in a series of experiments described by the New York Medical Record, has shown that the normal healthy man may be and usually is filled with all kinds of disease breeding bacteria in vast numbers. Pneumonia and tuberculosis bacilli especially have been located in healthy organisms in which no disease resulted. Dr. Nicholls declares that infection is a normal condition and is harmful only when the individual is below par as to his physical condition. All of which only emphasizes the truth of the old saw about an ounce of prevention, etc.

FIBROID TUMORS CURED.

Mrs. Hayes' First Letter Appealing to Mrs. Pinkham for Help:

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I have been under Boston doctors' treatment for a long time without any relief. They tell me I have a fibroid tumor. I cannot sit down without great pain, and the soreness extends up my spine. I have bearing-down pains both back and front. My abdomen is swollen, and I have had flowing spells for three years. My appetite is not good. I cannot walk or be on my feet for any length of time.

"The symptoms of Fibroid Tumor given in your little book accurately describe my case, so I write to you for advice."—(Signed) Mrs. E. F. Hayes, 252 Dudley St. (Roxbury), Boston, Mass.

Mrs. Hayes' Second Letter:

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—Sometime ago I wrote to you describing my symptoms and asked your advice. You replied, and I followed all your directions carefully, and to-day I am a well woman.

"The use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound entirely expelled the tumor and strengthened my whole system. I can walk miles now.

"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is worth five dollars a drop. I advise all women who are afflicted with tumors or female trouble of any kind to give it a faithful trial."—(Signed) Mrs. E. F. Hayes, 252 Dudley St. (Roxbury), Boston, Mass.

James Landers, 35 years, of Salem, a driver for the Swift Beef company of that city lies in a critical condition at the Salem hospital suffering from injuries received by being hurled from his wagon in a collision with a locomotive at the Devereux crossing of the Boston and Maine railroad.

When the grocery store of S. Manikas of 15 Locke street, at Lynn, was opened, it was discovered that the place had been broken into and entered and the thieves had looted the premises. The cash drawer was ripped from its fastenings and $8 in pennies, $5 in nickels and $4 in dimes were taken.

Complaints have been made to the Gloucester city council of the burning of smoke coal on account of the large volume of smoke which results. Martin Boyle of Newburyport has been appointed to the position of chemist in the United States department of Agriculture at Washington, D. C.

Judge Merrill at the session of the Haverhill district court, rebuked the police of West Newbury and declared that Policeman Michael Silk alone performed his duty. He added that the other policemen, even though not acting openly, had secretly assisted in the riot and disturbances in the Fourth of July celebration in that town, and that such actions were to be condemned. R. Pett Jaques was fined $10.

Two of the assistant engineers of the Haverhill fire department, Assistants Pulsifer and Eaton, may get their dues as neither are in a position to respond to all the alarms. The former is a travelling salesman in the city about half the time, and the other has removed beyond the sound of the fire alarm, and has not had his house connected with the system. Mayor Wood wants to "know why" in the affair.

The death of Mrs. Michael Melville, of Lynn, so soon after the marriage of her son, George C. Melville, the very serious illness of Dr. T. R. Grow, and the serious attack of Mrs. H. L. Gowen and Miss Bagley, a visitor, also a slight attack of Mrs. Gowen's son, supposed to have been caused by ptomaine poisoning, has led to several rumors, one of which was that at the wedding reception of George C. Melville at Malden on Wednesday evening, June 22, there was something eaten that poisoned them.

The outlook in the Haverhill shoe district is reported good for the fall trade.

Mrs. George von L. Meyer and daughter of Hamilton are at the Hague for a short visit having gone over from Paris where they spent the Fourth of July.

Merrimack has awarded the $4,000 four per cent, five to twenty-eight year serial water bonds and $11,000 electric light bonds to Merrill, Oldham & Co., of Boston.

The fight against the Haverhill trust by the city of Haverhill was inaugurated this morning when Mayor Wood sent to the manager of the Merrimack Ice Co., a heated letter.

Passengers on a car from Newburyport on the B. & N. bound for Haverhill figured in an accident from which a thorough shaking up and small fright was occasioned.

Five Lynn dealers were in court Tuesday and their cases continued until July 12. They are charged with selling the potash-dextrine tablets after being warned not to do so.

Frederick R. Harper, 29 Kernwood avenue and Herman T. Tremblay, 23 Cabot street, Beverly, had an experience with an automobile, and both were badly shaken up. They escaped serious injury.

It looks as if there was an incendiary at Plum Island. The Larner cottage was burned while the family were away and the unoccupied house belonging to Joshua Cahoon and named "Old Camp Comfort" was destroyed.

Harry Hanson of Newburyport got his middle finger of the left hand caught in between the cog wheels of a big drill in the machine shop at the Chase-Shawmut works late yesterday, and drew it out badly mutilated.

Mayor Wood of Haverhill says he will go down in defeat for mayor this year rather than re-appoint John Bolan. The officer is a Socialist, and has publicly threatened to do everything he could to beat Wood next year.

Two innovations were noted at Salem Willows Sunday. For the first time in the history of the place on Sundays, the flying horses were in operation, with all the attendant music. Then a specialrolley car with a party visited the park.

There is trouble brewing for the seven commissioners at Lynn, it is rumored. The claim is that they demand a civil service employe without a hearing, and appointed to the vacancy one that had not passed the examination, as required by law.

James Landers, of Salem, driver of a provision team was bruised and his horse injured so it had to be killed, by being struck by a train on the Pleasant street crossing of the Boston and Maine railroad, east of Devereux station.

The resignation of President Robert S. Rantoul of the Essex Institute, Salem, was presented to a meeting of the directors but no definite action will be taken. The directors desire that Mr. Rantoul remain for the present at the head of the institution. He is to sail for Europe in September, and may be absent several years.

The alarm that work would be fitted up and the commencement of the dredging and improving of Amesbury river delayed has proven to really have been without any serious cause. Matters were satisfactorily adjusted, and work will commence as soon as possible, probably by the middle of August and surely by September 1st.

A meeting of the creditors of the Newburyport Car company, which recently held in Boston at which more than half the indebtedness of the company was represented, and a committee was appointed of the creditors to act with the stockholders' committee in the disposing of the assets of the company to the best interest of all concerned.

Pending the analysis by the city chemist, Lynn physicians and nurses were unable to account for the dread disease which has suddenly appeared in their midst, while Chestnut street, in the part where the malady has appeared, is avoided as much as possible, though physicians are unanimous in declaring the disease not contagious. While Dr. T. D. Grow and Mrs. H. L. Gowen were gradually sinking from the unknown disease the body of Mrs. Michael Melville was found.

The final settlement for the Newburyport water works came when the city turned over to the Newburyport Water company the amount needed for the liquidation of indebtedness represented by the award, principal and interest. BEST GAME OF SEASON.

The Blue Stockings put up their strongest game of the season against the E. Frank Lewis team of Lawrence on Saturday afternoon. The contest on the Tavern lot was witnessed by a large crowd of interested fans. Both teams were pretty evenly matched as the score 1 to 0 shows. The Lewis team made its only runs in the sixth innings.

THE COMING GAME.

There is much talk about the coming game and it is said that the backers of both teams have placed no small amount of money in responsible hands in support of the conviction that their team will win. What makes the game easily the most interesting of the season is the fact that the Blue Stockings and Young Men's Catholic association have both developed a strong baseball team, either of which strongly represent the town as one of the best baseball communities in this part of the state. Of all their games this year each team has won a very satisfactory percentage and have defeated some of the strongest lines available. Between the Blue Stockings and the Young Men's Catholic association exists a clean good natured rivalry which has developed in the last few years and contests such as the coming game on Saturday excites far spread interest. The teams meet on the Tavern lot at the usual hour on Saturday afternoon. The last game was played on May 30, when the Young Men's team were the victors.

BROWN TAIL MOTH.

The Brown tailed moth is very much in evidence at present here in town as well as in other places. For the past few nights electric arc lights have been the points of attraction for innumerable specimens of this threatening pest and destroyer of vegetation. As in other places the fluttering of the moths about the lights resembles a snow storm, and crawling, the moths cover the ground, trees and buildings about the lights to be seen innumerate in the day.

As yet no move has been made by the local authorities to exterminate these moths to guard against the breeding of millions in posterity. Most people know what they are and guard against them about their body. The destruction of a portion of the present great number of moths would greatly reduce those of a future growth.

Wedding.

COSTELLO-WALSH.

On Monday afternoon occurred the marriage of two young people of this vicinity, very favorably known among a wide circle of friends who wish for them a future filled with great happiness and success. The ceremony was performed in St. Michael's Catholic church by the rector, the Rev. Fr. Gallagher at 2.30 o'clock. The words of the clergyman made man and wife Joseph Sylvester Walsh. The groom is a well known Lawrence young man, holding a position as drug clerk at John J. Forrester's pharmacy on Essex street.

The bride wore a beautiful and very becoming creation of light blue silk, cut en traine, trimmed with ecru duchesse lace and ribbon. She wore a white picture hat and carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses.

The bride's sister, Miss Nellie Margaret Costello, was her bridesmaid, she was becomingly gowned in blue silk, having cream lace and ribbon trimmings. She wore a black picture hat, and carried a shower bouquet of sweet peas.

Edward Augustine Costello, a brother of the bride, was her man. Following the ceremony there was a wedding reception, with a delicious repast, served by Cater Lane, at the residence of the bride's mother, 38 Belmont street.

The guests numbered about 50 and were confined to the immediate family and relatives, people from Boston, East Weymouth, Lawrence, North Andover and other places being present. The apartments of the house were prettily decorated with fragrant flowers for the event.

Mr. and Mrs. Walsh were most heartily congratulated and wished a long and happy life, abounding in prosperity.

A valuable collection of costly presents were bestowed upon the newly-married couple, who left amid a deluge of rice on the 3.55 train for a honeymoon in New York.

On their return Mr. and Mrs. Walsh are to reside at 494 Haverhill street. They will be at home after August 1st.

CHIEF OF POLICE MIZEN.

It was understood last week that Chief of Police George H. Mizzen would be able to return to his home here in town the first of this week. His arm is greatly improved and will come out far better than was at first expected. It will be sometime however, before he is home because it is necessary for the arm to be dressed each day, and if at home he would have to make a trip every day to the institution. At the hospital he is able to be up and about and takes an interest in the occurrences about him. The confinement naturally is not to his liking, being a man of activity and used to being out of doors, but as he looks forward to the time when he will be able to be about again, no doubt things look bright.

Manuel Mendonza of Massachusetts avenue, a bright little chap has accepted a position as messenger boy with the Western Union Telegraph company connected with the Lawrence office, for the summer vacation.

NEWFOUNDLAND—A LAND OF HEALTH AND BEAUTY.

A GRAND VACATION COUNTRY. — Newfoundland, how far it seems; the name gives one the impression of some wild, unknown country; and the average idea of this great land is, an unknown wilderness, cold, snowy and ice-bound. But never was impression more erroneous. True, Newfoundland is a wild country, though the modern city of St. John with its bustling trolley cars, ship docks and general business rush has anything but a wild appearance. The rest of the island presents a beautiful picture of the grandest of nature's endeavors of grand and sublime scenic effect.

The cool summers have all the endowments of a Northern New England, shore resort; and the invigorating and exhilarating ozone flavored by the salubrious atmosphere of pine and spruce lands where the caribou and deer roam in herds; will tinge the glow of health on the pallid face of the wearied business man. Lakes and ponds dot the surface of the entire island, and the hummer and dozens of lesser streams water the verdant meadows. Here the angler finds his paradise. That species of finny king, the Labrador salmon, challenges the sportsman; and is ever ready to battle for his life. The trout streams are teeming with delicate morsels of brook trout; and the lakes and ponds are populated by a variety of gilled monarchs. The tall swaying grass harbors the pheasant and the quail; rabbits, hares and squirrels run promiscuously in the woods; song birds are peeling their carols in their leafy nests; and hills and vales; glittering cascades midst valley solitudes; tumbling cataracts over massive boulders; and heavy forests, deep in silence, all of which man, woman and child whose desire leans at all towards the beauty of nature to come hither. Health, rest and quiet—health in the clear atmosphere and sea breezes mingled with the oxygen of the woods, quiet in the deep recesses of wooded groves, or trouting on the banks of some winding stream; and rest in a climate favored above all where the gulf streams softens the ice floss of Labrador and blesses Newfoundland with a summer climate equalled by few and surpassed by none.

An "Old Home Week" celebration will be held on the island in July, tickets good going July 24th to 29th, inclusive, via the Boston & Maine railroad, and good for return sixty days, after date of issue, at the very low rate of $50.00 for the round trip from the following stations will be on sale at Boston City Ticket Office, 222 Washington Street, at Boston Union Station, at Canadian Pacific Office, 362 Washington St., and at Intercolonial Railway Office, 1298 Washington Street, also at Lynn, Salem, Newburyport, Lowell, Lawrence, and Haverhill, Mass.

SOME PHOTOGRAPHIC "DON'TS".

Don't travel to Boston for photographs—you can get as nice ones in your own town.
Don't expect your friends to recognize your picture if you dress your hair or your body in an unnatural manner.
Don't have your photograph made when you feel cross, or unwell.
Don't worry—it shows in the picture.
Don't think you can't get a good photograph—the plainest persons sometimes make the best pictures.
Don't forget that there are plenty of customers who pay their bills—they are the only ones we care to do business with.
